The Workshops are taught in small groups, directly by Tamayo Hussey. Students' ikebana are created at various installation spaces in her house including the tatami room. The house itself is located in an area of outstanding natural beauty (AONB) called the Wye Valley, a magical place in rural Wales. The house was the first house in the UK to be built using Welsh grown Japanese larch timber and was christened the Japanese House by the 'Grand Designs' program. Please book in advance and indicate your level of expertise in flower arranging when you book.

If you are travelling some distance, we can provide information on local accommodation.

I look forward to meeting you! Tamayo
